FRIDAY FEBRUARY 24.

NATIONAL CONVENTIONS.

The democratic national committee has selected St. Louis as the place and June 5th as the time, for holding the national convention. This is the first time since Buchanan that the democrats have had the courage to hold their national convention in advance of the republicans. The first republican convention was held at Philadelphia on the 17th day of June, 1856, when Fremont was nominated, and the democratic convention was held at Cincinnati on the 2d of June, when Buchanan was nominated. The democrats are better off as regards a candidate than they have been since 1860. They have only one they can nominate with any sort of harmony or show of success, and this being the case they have nothing to do but meet and do the nominating and then go home. It is this peculiar condition of things that gives the democrats the courage to hold the convention before the republicans hold theirs. They can't do any trimming this year, and therefore there was no use to wait to see what the republicans will do.

National conventions for the nomination of candidates for president and vice president are of comparative recent origin. In the early times of the government candidates for president and vice president were nominated by congressional and legislative caucuses. It was by common consent that Washington became a candidate for two terms, and after his retirement John Adams became a candidate in the same fashion.

The first congressional caucus to nominate candidates for president and vice president was held in Philadelphia in 1800, when Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr were nominated, by the democrats then called republicans, and John Adams became the candidate of the federalists.

In January 1808, a republican congressional caucus (democratic) was held at Washington and nominated James Madison, and a nother caucus was held at Washington in 1812 and renominated him.

In 1816, the republican caucus nominated James Monroe, and in 1820 he was renominated and re-elected unanimously, only one electoral vote being cast against him.

The end of "King Caucus" came in 1824, when the republican party (democratic) could not be induced to abide by the nomination of the congressional caucus. The candidates who entered the famous "scrub-race" of that year were Andrew Jackson, Henry Clay and John Quincy Adams. They were put in the field by legislatures and by other machinery peculiar to that time, but there was no choice of the people, and for the first time in the history of the country, the election of president was thrown into the house of representatives, and Adams won. It has never been taken to the house since that time.

In 1828, the legislature of Tennessee placed in nomination Andrew Jackson, who was then called a democrat, and John Quincy Adams was taken up by the national republicans, who afterwards became whigs. Jackson was renominated by common consent in 1832, and was elected.

The first political national convention in this country of which any record has been made, met in Philadelphia in September, 1830, and was called the United States anti-Masonic convention. In 1831 the same party held a national convention at Baltimore, and nominated William Wirt for president. In the election of 1832 he got the electoral vote of Vermont, and of the popular vote polled 33,108.

On the 12th day of December, 1831, nearly a year before the election, the national republicans held their convention at Baltimore and nominated Henry Clay.

In May 1835, the first democratic national convention was held at Baltimore, and it was in this convention that the two-third rule was adopted. Martin Van Buren was unanimously nominated. The first whig convention was held at Harrisburg, and William Henry Harrison was nominated.

The second whig convention was again held at Harrisburg, December 4, 1839, and Harrison was again nominated, which inaugurated the famous "log-cabin" campaign in which he was elected. The democratic convention was held at Baltimore, May 5, 1840, and Van Buren was nominated.

The whigs met at Baltimore on the 1st of May, 1844, and nominated Clay and the democrats met at the same place on the 27th of May, and nominated Polk.

In 1848, the whigs met at Philadelphia on the 7th of June, and nominated Taylor; and the democrats assembled in Baltimore on the 22d of May and nominated Lewis Cass.

In 1852 the whig convention met in Baltimore on the 16th of June and nominated General Scott; and the democrats assembled in the same city on the 1st of June and nominated Franklin Pierce.

The first republican national convention met at Philadelphia on the 17th of June, 1856, and nominated Fremont; and the democratic convention was held in Cincinnati on the 2d of the same month and nominated Buchanan.

The memorable republican convention of 1860 assembled at Chicago on the 16th day of May and nominated Lincoln. The democratic convention assembled at Charleston, on the 23d of April. Dissensions were bred in the convention on the slavery question, and as there was no hope of reconciliation, the Douglas wing of the party adjourned to meet at Baltimore on the 18th of June, where Douglas was nominated; and the Breckinridge wing nominated him at Charleston.

In 1864 the republican convention assembled at Baltimore on the 7th of June, and renominated Lincoln; and the democrats met in Chicago on the 29th of August, declared the war a failure, nominated McClellan, and got defeated.

The republican national convention of 1868 was held at Chicago, May 20th, and nominated Grant. The democrats met in New York, July 4th, and nominated Seymour.

In 1872, the republican convention met at Philadelphia, June 5th, and renominated Grant. The democratic convention, composed of half-breed republicans, or liberals, and the democrats who wanted anything to beat Grant, met in Baltimore July 9th, and nominated Horace Greeley. The "straight-out" democrats, met at Louisville, September 3d, and nominated Charles O'Conor.

In 1876 the republicans held their convention at Cincinnati on the 14th of June and nominated Hayes; and the democrats met at St. Louis June 27th, and nominated Tilden.

The republicans held their convention of 1880, in Chicago, June 5th, and nominated Garfield. The democrats met at Cincinnati June 23, and nominated Hancock.

In 1884, the republicans met in Chicago, June 3d, and nominated Blaine, and the democrats assembled in the same city, July 8th and nominated Cleveland.

It will be seen from this review of the principal political conventions held in this country, that 12 have been held in Baltimore, 1 in New York, 5 in Philadelphia, 7 in Chicago, 2 in St. Louis, 2 in Harrisburg, and 3 in Cincinnati.

The Blair educational bill, which has passed the United States senate, appropriates annually the following sums, to be expended to secure the benefit of common school education to all the children of school age living in the United States; first year, $7,000,000; second, $10,000,000; third, $15,000,000; fourth $13,000,000; fifth, $11,000,000; sixth $9,000,000; seventh, $7,000,000; eighth, $5,000,000—a total of $77,000,000. It provides that the money shall be divided among the several states and territories and the District of Columbia in proportion to illiteracy, the computation to be made according to the census of 1880, and afterward that of 1890. There are some minor provisions, such as that relating to separate schools for white and colored children and that stipulating that no amount is to be paid to any state or territory in any year greater than the amount expended out of its own revenue in the preceding year for the maintenance of common schools.

Senator Hawley is the most rapid speaker in congress. He talks so fast that stenographers become discouraged when he rises to speak. In his warm speech against the Blair educational bill last week he delivered his works at an average rate of from 215 to 225 words a minute; 120 words is the ordinary record of public speakers. And Senator Hawley is one of these rare men who would run in a presidential race in pretty much the same style as he talks.

Phil Sheridan got out of the presidential race before the mugwumps could get a whack at him. With Blaine and Sheridan out, the mugwump organs are hard up for somebody to abuse.—Chicago Journal.

There is no use trying to please the "independents." They grabled because they thought Blaine was a candidate, and now they grumble at his letter of declination. They would kick if Blaine were running, and would kick if he didn't run.

While all the other papers of the country are largely discussing the various nominees for the presidency, "The Chicago Times" devotes itself to the great question, what is the winning hand in poker. "The Times" still declares itself to be edited "by W. F. Storey."—New York Tribune.

This shows that although Mr. Storey has been dead three years, he edits the paper with the same peculiarity that he did when his headquarters were in the Times office.

The fact is, Phil Sheridan couldn't run for the presidency. He doesn't know how to run. More than one rebel general tried to make him run during the war, but that part of his education has been neglected.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

But Phil can run. He ran for Winchester, twenty miles in one hour, and got there in time to save the day. The way he ran to Winchester pretty fairly illustrates how he would run for the presidency.

There is hardly anything so pitiful as a crank. The Chicago Tribune is edited by a free trade crank, and therefore it makes itself ridiculous. It will be the only republican paper in the country, which will be compelled to support Cleveland's tariff message in the coming campaign, or cowardly remain silent.

In a town in Mississippi a man who had for a long time run a gambling place without molestation recently reformed, and began to preach as an evangelist. He was promptly arrested by the lynx-eyed guardians of society for preaching without a license.

There is great rejoicing in St. Louis. It will have a holiday in the course of the year—the democratic convention. With such occasional shows as these to visit the town, St. Louis may still hope of gaining a little life.

SPECIAL TELEGRAMS.

The Engineers of the C. B. & Q. R. R. Threaten a Strike for Higher Wages.

Death of W. W. Corcoran, the Millionaire and Philanthropist.

THREATEN TO STRIKE.

Special to the Gazette.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24th.—The engineers of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway threaten to strike this afternoon for an increase of wages which they asked for several days ago.

DEATH OF CORCORAN.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—W. W. Corcoran, the millionaire and philanthropist, died at his home in this city at six thirty this morning. He was born in 1798, and knew all the presidents since Washington.

AN OLD QUESTION SETTLED.

Chicago Compensated for the Loss of the Democratic Convention by a Favorable Decision in the Lake Front Case.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—In the United States Court room yesterday Justice Harlan read the Supreme Court decision in the famous "lake front" case. The reading occupied nearly two hours. It was the final action in a suit by the city to prevent encroachments upon the harbor by the Illinois Central Railroad Company, and the citation has been dragging along for over twenty years.

Justice Harlan first rendered an opinion on the quo-warranto case of 1887 of the State vs. the Illinois Central, which was a motion by the Attorney-General to remand the case from the United States court to the State court. This decision was brief and denied the motion. Then the "lake-front" case proper was taken up.

Divested of legal phraseology, the old Fort Dearborn reservation is declared to have passed forever from the control of the United States, which has no standing in court in this case. This affects not only the vacant lots on the east of Michigan avenue but also Dearborn park. The Illinois Central is confirmed in the ownership of all its property and vested rights north of Randolph street, but its main contention—viz., that under the 1869 act it owned one mile in width of the bed of the harbor—is set aside. The repeal of the 1865 act by the 1873 Legislature is declared to be valid, as the company did not lose any vested rights thereby, but was simply relegated to the rights and privileges of its original charter. The riparian rights remain in the city, with the consent of the State, not only the natural shore, but where filling in has been done by the railroad. The three blocks between Randolph and Monroe streets, where the company intended erecting its new depot, remain in the control of the city, the contract of 1869 having been made void by the company withdrawing its deposit moneys.

The decision is a substantial victory for the city and State. The lawyers discussed it eagerly as they left the court-room, and the prevailing opinion was that the decision would stand, and that the Illinois Central had been confirmed in all the rights the corporation was entitled to, while the people had been protected from unjust encroachments.

CLEVELAND IN FLORIDA.

The Presidential Party Entertained by the People of St. Augustine.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 24.—The President and party arrived here about noon yesterday and were escorted to the hotel by a delegation of citizens, firemen and other organizations, where there was a reception by the local military and 200 children in holiday attire. In accordance with the President's request there were no formal ceremonies. After a rest a tour of the points of interest in and near the city was made. All are well and enjoying the flying trip to Florida to the fullest extent.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 24.—Wednesday's lowering clouds vanished during the night, and yesterday furnished a typical example of Florida winter sunshine. The President's party rose early, and after breakfasting were escorted in carriages to the sub-Tropical Exposition, which they inspected thoroughly before the general public was admitted. Great surprise was expressed by all at the opulence and variety of flowers and fruit displayed, and especially at the oranges and characteristic sub-tropical plants.

PALATKA, Fla., Feb. 24.—The Presidential party left St. Augustine at 10 o'clock last night, arriving here at 11. From here a rapid run will be made to Titusville, where a steamer will be taken to Rockledge, on Indian river. Leaving Rockledge on the return trip at noon to-day, the party will visit the Sanford Exposition and also the Winter park. Jacksonville will be reached at 11 o'clock p. m., and Charleston at 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

Opening of the Canadian Parliament.

OTTAWA, Can., Feb. 24.—The opening of Parliament, which was postponed last month in order to await a settlement of the fishery negotiations took place yesterday. The treaty will be presented to Parliament without delay, as soon as the address to the speech from the throne is moved.

Lord Lansdowne, the Governor-General, in his speech commended the fisheries treaty, and foresees a railway act which would meet the difficulties growing out of the contending interests of rival companies.

London Papers on the Treaty.

LONDON, Feb 24.—The Chronicle, commenting on the fisheries treaty, says: "It is an amicable bargain. In the nature of things, Canada's concessions appear to be larger than America's; but it would be useless for Mr. Chamberlain to extort such terms from America as would lead to the rejection of the treaty by the Senate."

The Daily News says: "We still think that it would have been better to have chosen a commissioner less obnoxious to a powerful section of the American people."

Wren Surrenders.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Dan Wren has given up. Yesterday he asked the judges of the appellate court, through his lawyers, to set aside the stay of execution in his case. He desired to go to Joliet at once, his attorneys said, and begin serving out his sentence. The request was granted, and the big boodler will be taken to the penitentiary at once.

Coal Statistics.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 24.—The output of coal during 1887 in the second anthracite district of Pennsylvania reached 5,013,515 tons, an increase over 1886 of 810,060 tons. In mine accidents fifty-two men were killed and 146 wounded.

Indiana Veterans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 24.—The Grand Army of the Republic of Indiana adjourned yesterday after the election of Argus D. Van Osdel, of Madison, Commander, and passing a resolution in support of a service pension bill.

COMING TO TERMS.

The Reading Company Further Placates Its Miners.

THE DIFFERENCES NEARLY ALL SETTLED.

Probability That All the Miners Will Resume Work on Monday—Interesting Testimony Before the Investigating Committee.

MORE CONCESSIONS.

READING, Pa., Feb. 24.—It now looks as though the Reading Company and its 22,000 mine employes have come to terms, but there is still some dissatisfaction in certain districts. Only one-half of the companies' collieries were in operation yesterday, but it is thought that all will be started up Monday. The men have been directed to report for duty and all differences will be amicably adjusted. It is said that all the engineers and other employes who were refused employment Monday will be given their old positions in due time. The company has made these concessions rather than have the men go out again. An order was issued yesterday reducing the price of supplies which the company miners secure from the company. These supplies include powder, oil, picks, fuse, and other material used by the miners while at work, and the effect of the order reducing the price of them is virtually to advance wages. This reduction, it appears, was made voluntarily on the part of the company. Master Workman Lewis said: "The men have now been ordered back to work and there is not likely to be any further trouble unless the Reading officials undertake to discriminate."

HAZLETON, Pa., Feb. 24.—The Congressional investigation committee resumed its inquiry into the coal strike in this city yesterday morning. The first witness called was D. M. Evans, a member of the Legislature from Luzerne County, and a practical miner. He related the story of the strike, its causes and its progress. Witness said the condition of the men in the region was pitiable; they could not, under the store system and the rates paid, get enough to eat and wear. Some of the miners never saw a dollar in cash. The men who lived right at the mines were charged $2.10 a ton for stove coal, and were compelled to pay so much a year, whether they used it or not. The company stores charged from 10 to 15 per cent. more than the individual stores, and many of the miners were practically compelled by necessity to buy their supplies at these stores. Of the 20,000 miners and miners' laborers who had worked in the Lehigh region 8,000 were being fed by contributions from the Knights of Labor. Of these 80 per cent. are married men and have families.

IOWA GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Senate Tax Levy Bill Passed—Still Discussing Railroad Legislation.

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 24.—The Senate yesterday passed the bill providing for a tax levy of two and one-half mills for the years 1888 and 1889, the additional one-half mill being for the payment of outstanding State warrants. If this passes the House there will be an excess of something over $500,000 for extraordinary appropriations for the State institutions. Senator Woolson introduced a bill providing for the erection of a soldiers and sailors' monument on the Capitol grounds at a cost not exceeding $50,000. The Senate also passed the bill providing for the enlargement of the powers of the Board of Health and the Veterinary Surgeon in stamping out contagious diseases among domestic animals.

The House spent the day in considering the committee's Railroad bill. Numerous amendments were offered, but every thing that seemingly tended to weaken its force was negatived. Considerable time was spent in the discussion of an amendment by Mr. Cummins, engrafting the distinctive features of his bill on the measure. After a sharp debate it was voted down by 82 to 10. The bill will undoubtedly pass the House in substantially its present form. But in the Senate its fate is problematical. There is no doubt, however, that a strongly-framed railroad bill will ultimately become a law, and that the law will largely increase the power of the Board of Railroad Commissioners, giving authority to construct schedules of rates and to enforce their decrees in the courts.

Last evening the two houses held a joint session and elected George W. Crossley warden of the Fort Madison penitentiary and Marquis Barr warden of the Anamosa penitentiary.

HORROR IN CHICAGO.

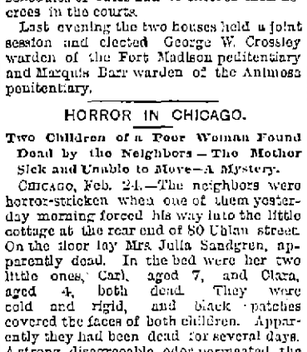

Two Children of a Poor Woman Found Dead by the Neighbors—The Mother Sick and Unable to Move—A Mystery.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—The neighbors were horror-stricken when one of them yesterday morning forced his way into the little cottage at the rear end of 80 Ohlan street. On the floor lay Mrs. Julia Sandgren, apparently dead. In the bed were her two little ones, Carl, aged 7, and Clara, aged 4, both dead. They were cold and rigid, and black patches covered the faces of both children. Apparently they had been dead for several days. A strong, disagreeable odor permeated the room in which the bodies were found. This led many to believe the woman and her children had been suffocated. A physician was called, and the woman was restored to consciousness, but was very weak and could hardly talk. Nothing could be learned from her concerning the death of her children or her condition.

Mrs. Sangren died at the Swedish Hospital last night.

Tragedy in Ohio.

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 24.—Will Lindsay married a sister of John Tibbett, all of Oak Harbor. Mrs. Lindsay refused to live with her husband, and he threatened to kill the whole Tibbett family. Tibbett and Lindsay met on the streets of Oak Harbor yesterday morning, both armed with double-barreled shot-guns and commenced a fusillade. Lindsay was shot dead and Tibbett received wounds which make recovery doubtful.

St. Louis Had It, and Secures the Convention Persimmon.

WORK OF THE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE.

It Selects the Missouri Metropolis as the Location for the Convention, and Changes the Date to June 5—An Administration Victory.

ST. LOUIS HAPPY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The National Democratic Committee met yesterday morning in secret session, to continue the balloting for the selection of the city in which the Democratic convention shall be held. Before the opening of the session there was a rumor circulating in the hall that an effort would be made to reconsider the vote by which the 3d of July was agreed to as the date of the convention.

Mr. Scott moved that the pending business be suspended so that a motion might be made to reconsider the vote by which the 3d of July was decided upon as the date for holding the convention. This was lost by a vote of 23 to 24.

The first ballot was then taken and resulted as follows:

San Francisco	17
Chicago	16
St. Louis	19
New York	1

After the first ballot there was a recess of ten minutes. Another ballot was then taken, but before the result was announced, Mr. Walsh, of Georgia, rose in his place and stated that he had thus far voted constantly for San Francisco, but as he was satisfied that that city would not be selected he would change his vote to St. Louis. Other changes followed and St. Louis was chosen, the vote finally being made unanimous.

Mr. Scott, of Pennsylvania, moved a reconsideration of the resolution naming July 3 as the date for the convention. This was agreed to, and, on motion of ex-Senator McDonald, June 5 was fixed upon as the date.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Mayor Francis, of St. Louis, has sent the following telegram to President Cleveland:

"Congratulations to you and the Democratic party on time and location of convention at St. Louis. It means that the fight will be made squarely on the principles so clearly, forcibly and courageously enunciated in your message.
"D. R. FRANCIS."

Politicians are saying that the action of the committee in selecting St. Louis and fixing an earlier date for holding the convention is favorable to the Administration and is probably part of an Administration programme. It is openly asserted that arrangement was made by friends of the Administration last night by which St. Louis was to be selected and the time of the convention set for some date earlier than the meeting of the Republican convention. The Administration people were all jubilant, claiming that they have won a victory all the way through.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Following is the call adopted by the Democratic Committee:

"The National Democratic Committee having met in the city of Washington on the 2nd day of February, 1888, has appointed Tuesday, the 5th day of June next, at high noon, as the time, and chosen the city of St. Louis as the place for holding the National Democratic Convention. Each State is entitled to representation therein equal to double the number of its Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States, and each Territory and the District of Columbia shall have two delegates. All Democratic conservative citizens of the United States, irrespective of past political associations and differences, who can unite with us in effect for pure, economical and constitutional Government are cordially invited to join in sending delegates to the convention.
"W. S. HARNUM, Chairman.
"FREDERICK O. PRINCE, Secretary."

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—The news from Washington that the Democratic National Committee had selected St. Louis as the place to hold the next Democratic National convention was received here with great joy and spread through the city as if by magic. Republicans as well as Democrats were in high feather and happy. The delegation sent to Washington will receive a rousing welcome on their return, and will be given a formal reception. On change the news produced real enthusiasm, and cheers and hat-throwing and party hand-shaking were indulged in by everybody. In less than an hour after the committee's action was made known the hotels were almost swamped with telegrams from all parts of the country ordering accommodations for various delegations, and fully one-half of the hotel rooms are engaged. The indications are that there will be tremendous crowds here from every section of the Union.

SURRENDER TO GREAT BRITAIN.

Fishermen Greatly Dissatisfied with the New Treaty.

Boston, Feb. 24.—The new fisheries treaty is not liked. At the Merchant's Exchange in Gloucester almost all avow that the rights of fishermen have been sacrificed to the interest of Canada. The President and Secretary Bayard received much criticism at the hands of many fishermen, who declare that the treaty is a disgrace to all American statesmanship. It is in the matter of the headlands that the fishermen are dissatisfied, more especially because they are practically excluded from Fortune bay. Moreover they object to paying $1.50 a ton for licenses for the privileges which they claim the treaty of 1818 has already given them. In Boston the opinion of Charles Levi Woodbury, a sterling Democrat and a master of the fishery question, is much respected. He does not believe that the Senate is ready to concede thousands of square miles of ocean to Great Britain for an exclusive fishing-ground, wherein now our rights are equal to hers.

Verdict Against a Railroad.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Feb. 24.—The jury in the case of W. H. Stacey & Co. vs. the Milwaukee, Lake Shore & Western Railroad Company returned a verdict yesterday afternoon in the circuit court in favor of the plaintiff for $7,570. The amount sued for was $10,000. The complaint alleged that owing to the negligence of the employes of the defendant road in running a switch engine at Birnamwood in May, 1887, was due the loss of plaintiff's mill by fire. The fire was a very extensive one, and other suits will follow.

Warrant for a Metropolitan Bank Officer.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 24.—A warrant is out and the police are searching for Frank Riegel, late assistant cashier of the Metropolitan National Bank. It charges Riegel with forgery and with swindling several building associations of which he was an officer by influencing them to deposit in the Metropolitan Bank.

Troubled with worms? Take Vinegar Bitters—best thing in the world for worms!

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and frequently destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best and only cure.

AN EXPRESS CAR LOOTED.

Train Robbers Make a Valuable Haul on the Southern Pacific Road.

TUCSON, A. T., Feb. 24.—The west-bound train on the Southern Pacific railroad was boarded by two masked men at Stein's Pass station about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. After the train had started the men crawled over the water-tank of the engine, covered the engineer and fireman with their rifles, and ordered them to move on slowly. When a mile and a half from the station the engineer was compelled to stop the train, and one of the robbers uncoupled the mail and express-car with the engine from the other part of the train. The engineer was compelled to move on a mile and a half farther, when the robbers again ordered him to stop and then forced Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express messenger to open the car, which they rifled of valuables, but without disturbing the mails. The engineer was next ordered to go back and take up the other part of the train, and the robbers left the railroad and started in a southerly direction. The train arrived here on time. The express robbery is reported to be heavy.

Helping the Right Side.

To help the right side is not commendable in a general point of view, but is judicious and prudent when that help is enlisted in behalf of the right side of the body, just over the lower ribs in the region of the liver. The most efficient help is afforded by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an anti-bilious medicine of incomparable efficacy. Inaction of the liver is accompanied by constipation, sick-headache, furred tongue, nausea, occasional vertigo, an unpleasant breath, yellowness of the skin and ball of the eye. The author of these symptoms, liver complaint, routed by the Bitters is accompanied by them in its flight. Fever and ague, which always involves the liver, dyspepsia, rheumatism, debility and kidney troubles are all maladies to the early relief and final cure of which this standard medicine is adapted. Don't use it by fits and starts, but systematically, that its full effects may result in a perfect restoration of health.

Who is Your Best Friend?

Your stomach of course. Why? Because if it is out of order you are one of the most miserable creatures living. Give it a fair, honorable chance and see if it is not the best friend you have in the end. Don't smoke in the morning. Don't drink in the morning. If you must smoke and drink wait until your stomach is through with breakfast. You can drink more and smoke more in the evening and it will tell on you less. If you are troubled with Heartburn, Dizziness of the head, coming up of the food after eating, Biliousness, Indigestion, or any other trouble of the stomach, you had best use Green's August Flower, as no person can use it without immediate relief.

FOUR NEW STATES.

Favorable Report on the Bill to Admit Several Territories.

PROVISIONS OF THE MEASURE.

The House Devotes the Day to Public-Building Bills—Mr. Cox in the Chair—Senate Proceedings—General Capital Gossip.

TO ADMIT THE TERRITORIES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—By a strict party vote the House Committee on Territories yesterday agreed to report favorably Chairman Springer's "omnibus" bill to enable the people of Dakota, Montana, Washington Territory and New Mexico to form constitutions and State governments, and to be admitted into the Union on equal footings with the original States.

[The bill authorizes residents of these Territories to elect delegates to conventions, proportionate in number with the population of the counties. The apportionment of delegates is to be made by the Governor, Chief-Justice and United States attorneys of each Territory, and the election is to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday of next August. The number of delegates to each convention is fixed at seventy-five, except in the case of Dakota, where the number is increased to 150. They are to meet at the seat of government of each Territory on the second Tuesday of September next, adopt the constitution of the United States, and form constitutions and State Governments, expressly disclaiming in favor of the United States all title to unappropriated public lands and Indian lands lying within the Territories. They are also required to assume the Territorial debts and provide and maintain a public-school system. The constitutions are to be submitted to a vote of the people on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November next, and, if a majority are in favor of it, the results shall be certified to the President of the United States.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The House was called to order by Mr. Clark, its clerk, who announced the enforced absence of the Speaker, and on motion of Mr. Mills (Tex.) S. S. Cox (N. Y.) was unanimously elected Speaker pro. tem. amid a round of applause.

The floor of the House was accorded the Committee on Public Buildings yesterday and bills were reported and placed on the calendar for public buildings at the following places: Kalamazoo, Mich.; Logansport, Ind.; Allegheny City, Pa.; Youngstown, O.; Atchison, Kan.; Hamilton, O., Akron, O.; Sioux City, Ia.; Madison, Ind.; Zanesville, O.; Helena, M. T.; Cheyenne, Wy. T.; Vicksburg, Miss.; Kansas City, Mo., and Evansville, Ind. (Marine hospital). Also to increase the appropriations for the public buildings at San Francisco to $930,000, and at Winona, Minn., to $200,000.

The House then went into committee of the whole for the consideration of the special order. The bill for the erection of a public building at Birmingham, Ala., at an estimated cost of $300,000 was opposed by Mr. Bland (Mo.), who took occasion to inveigh against the extension of the Federal judicial system, and he moved to reduce the cost to $200,000.

Mr. Bland's amendment was lost and the bill was agreed to.

In speaking against the next bill for the erection of a public building at Duluth, at an ultimate cost of $150,000, Mr. Bland said there had been introduced into the present Congress public-building measures which involved the expenditure of $25,000,000. It was the policy of the Democratic party to have an economical administration and to pay the money in the Treasury on the public debt, yet here in a Democratic House measure after measure was passed to squander that money. It was about time that the Democratic party should put its foot on the whole scheme if it wanted to reduce taxation.

The bill was agreed to, as were also bills appropriating $350,000 for the purchase of additional lands and the improvement of the public building at Newark, N. J., and for the purchase of additional lands at Council Bluffs, Ia., at a cost not to exceed $10,000.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The Senate yesterday passed the following bills: To carry into effect the international convention for the protection of submarine cables; to enable California to take lands in lieu of the sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections, found to be mineral lands; to provide for an international marine conference for securing greater safety for life and property at sea; to extend the laws of the United States over certain unorganized territory south of Kansas, popularly known as "No Man's Land;" it establishes the Cimarron land district.

The Senate Public-Buildings Committee reported favorably bills for erection of public buildings at Cheyenne, Wy. T., $80,000, and Sioux City, Ia., $250,000.

During the discussion of the bill to provide for the compulsory education of Indian children (not including the five civilized tribes nor the Osages) Senator Vest (Mo.) declared his conviction that day schools among the Indians were absolutely worthless. He said the universal experience was that the Indian boy or girl who attended a day school for three or four hours a day and then returned to the tepee or wigwam derived no benefit whatever from the school education. He opposed the appropriation of a single dollar for such schools and would obliterate every one of them if he could. The bill went over without action.

Senator Platt (Conn.) from the Committee on Territories reported favorably a bill to extend the southern and western boundaries of Kansas so as to include what is known as the public-land strip.

From the Committee on Military Affairs Senator Cameron reported favorably a bill to authorize the President to appoint General Wilfred Pleasanton a Major of cavalry on the retired list and Senator Davis (Minn.) a bill to authorize the appointment of General William W. Averell as a Colonel on the retired list.

THE TREATY'S DEFEAT PREDICTED.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—It is scarcely probable that the treaty over which Mr. Bayard, Mr. Chamberlain and their associates have spent so much time and care will be ratified by the Senate. A two-thirds vote is required for ratification, and the opposition to the treaty on the Republican side of the Senate is so strong that the necessary votes can not be obtained there, even if the entire Democratic side should sustain the administration, which is doubtful.

WARRANTS FOR PENSION PAYMENTS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The Treasury Department yesterday issued warrants for the payment of $10,000,000 on account of pensions, the effect of which will be to reduce the surplus for the month of February from $17,000,000 to $7,000,000. The total revenues for the month to date aggregate $25,000,000, being $2,000,000 in excess of an average of $1,000,000 a day. The expenditures during the same time amount to $18,000,000.

IN THE DAKOTA BLIZZARD.

The sun shone fair in the clear, crisp air—Dakota at her best,
In winter array is cold, they say, if tried by an Eastern test—

But Chambers was a Western man, on the frontier used to roam,
And his boys went along, with a laugh and a song, to help drive the cattle home.

The old man's eye caught the gleam on high of a sullen, yellow cloud,
And lo, the light faded out from the sky, and far on the prairie a loud,

Fierce roar was heard, and with never a word, save "Home, while the storm allows!"
He sped one boy back, while he kept the track with the other lad and the cows.

The air filled up like a frozen cup, each drop had the point of a thorn,
Each gasp for breath seemed certain death; it grew black, though the hour was morn.

They staggered on with faces wan and courage grown almost cold;
"Lie down, my son, my darling son, and this coat about you fold."

But the man in anguish walked up and down and tumbled at last to his knees—
For the coat that wrapped the boy so warm left the father bare to freeze—

And he felt the cold hand at his heart. "Up, up, my boy, I say;
Kneel for a moment by my side and let me hear you pray."

Their prayers went straight to Heaven's gate, and at dawn the faithful hound
Bayed for the rescue till the boy by tender hands was found.

His father low in the drifted snow lay stiff, and yet still he smiled,
As though in death he seemed to know he had died to save his child.

A SHIFTING DESERT.

Riding Across the Sand-Hills Country of Nebraska.

The "sand-hills" in Nebraska are peculiar, writes Fred H. Carruth in the Chicago Tribune. Drifted east, west, north, south, everywhere, by each wind that blows; whirled up into a conical peak by the wind of to-day only to be blown out into a long, low drift by that of to-morrow; tossed about hither and thither like snow by every passing breeze—these sand dunes have a strange, uncertain existence almost as fickle and capricious as the wind itself. They are a shifting, moving desert; an ever-billowy ocean on which one may walk, mounting the waves and, looking off across the restless surface, see—sand and sky, nothing more.

They are unique, an ocean while tossed by a storm turned to sand, and still like the ocean, the waves rising and falling, only slower. Fitful, unquiet, restless, a vagrant country.

Our road lay among the sand hills for over a hundred miles. Along it we never saw a house except some half-dozen erected by the railroad company near its tracks for the section-men to live in and very few others belonging to settlers in little valleys near the edge of the sand country, where there was grass enough for a few head of stock. It was impossible to make any thing else grow except a little scattering corn, with no ears on it, which looked lonesome and disgusted. It would not have surprised me to have seen it pull its roots out of the sand and walk away in search of a soil willing to assist struggling corn in a laudable effort to exist.

The sand hills are desolate, dreary, silent. On a calm day the silence is oppressive. I remember riding up on the top of one of these drifts of sand one afternoon when the sun was sinking well down towards the west, and it seemed as if there was nothing around me but shadows—every cone throwing a dark shadow half-way up the grayish-yellow side of the next. I had left the wagon an hour before, as we were going along the trail four or five miles to the south, and ridden off among the hills on the pony after some antelopes of which we had caught sight. It was a still, calm October day—not a breath of wind, not a cloud in sight. I had wandered over and among the hills for some time, when I stopped to rest on the top of one rather higher than the others. It seemed as if I could see thousands of the little round, conical hills—each forty or fifty feet high perhaps—each like all the others—each casting a dark, semi-circular shadow. As the eye reached farther away the hills seemed to become lost and gradually melt into one another, but the shadows remained, making a landscape of shadows—half shadows, half sunlight. The shadows lay thick and regular over the sandy waste, as if some giant had gone over the whole country with a huge paint-brush and touched the landscape regularly with dark blotches. Their edges almost met, with only a tracery of sunlight dividing them. In time the view would have grown monotonous, but then it was strange, unique, bewildering. It was Silence and Desolation lying at one's feet with the soft afternoon sun—a little redder than usual, a little like Indian summer—flooding it with a hazy light and gradually sinking lower and lower, while the shadows rose higher and higher.

Some little distance away I could see a couple of the antelopes I had started after, on top of one of the hills, gazing toward me with mild surprise at the fact that I thought I was going to get them. Sitting half way up the side of almost the next hill was a lean and hungry coyote. At the foot of the one where I stood lay scattered the bones of two or three buffaloes, half buried in the sand, with their white, spectral-looking skulls and black horns. The rest was sand—sand, and shadows, and silence.

My pony stood with her feet buried in the sand watching the wolf. Nothing stirred. It seemed as if I could feel the silence. It pressed down all around. It was everywhere. I wondered how far into the edges of this desert the noises of the world without penetrated. I spoke and it sounded like a voice from behind the next sand dune—from some one unseen. It was strange—this deep silence—and as the shadows crept gradually up the hills the whole scene became weird. It seemed as if I was in a labyrinth of shadows—shut in among the shadows by silence—and gradually I began to doubt whether I knew the directions, or whether there was such a thing as direction or distance—only shadows, and more shadows, and a dead, heavy, almost painful silence. I wondered if there was ever any sound here or if—but there was—the silence was broken by a flock of sandhill cranes flying over so far above that they looked but little more than specks, but the flapping of their wings came clear and distinct. Then a little burrowing owl flew out of the next shadow towards the sun and flapped its way slowly around another hill, and the coyote went in what appeared to me would be a rather fruitless pursuit, and the antelopes bounded away, looking no bigger than rabbits as they disappeared among the hills and shadows.

There was no limit to the view—hills and shadows, shadows and hills, as far as the eye could reach—and far beyond. It was fifty miles to the east before the fertile country was encountered; almost as far to the west. The sand hills stretched away one hundred and twenty miles to the south,

I don't know how far to the north—it was not above two miles to the line between Nebraska and Dakota, and beyond that was the great Sioux Indian Reservation, reaching away to the north almost three hundred miles. It made little difference how far the sand extended, this was equally wild and uninhabited whether it was a desert or a fertile plain. Ten miles to the south was the Niobrara river—a small stream rolling along through the sand between low bluffs, and constantly growing smaller instead of larger on its way to the Missouri. Well up towards its head, more than one hundred miles to the west, it seems as large as at its mouth. Between being swallowed up by the thirsty sands and evaporated by the hot sun and scorching winds unfortunate Niobrara struggles half its course.

The only variation to this scene of hill and shadow was far to the northwest—so far that it was scarcely noticed at first. Here in one place the hills grew lower till gradually the shadows melted together, and a narrow, but well-defined, valley could be traced, at the bottom of which, gleaming in the sun, lay a little silver lake—a glimmering mirror among the sand dunes. It was where the wind during some dry season had whirled the sand away and scooped down lower than usual—below the water-line—and afterwards the water had run in and formed the little pond. It was a well dug by the wind.

With a field glass I could see that around this miniature lake there was quite an oasis—the grass grew rank and tall and held back the sand from drifting over it and again claiming its own. There are several other similar lakes near this one, not visible from where I was—they are the reputed headwaters of the Keya-Paha river, though they only connect with this stream in the spring when the snow melts and enough of the water escapes the sands to flow along a narrow valley. There are a few such valleys scattered at long intervals all through the sand hills—slender oases—affording just enough grass for occasional bands of antelopes.

The hills were all more or less hollowed out on their northwest sides, as if the heaviest winds came from that direction—even those which had become somewhat packed and on which were a few scattering bunches of gray, dusty grass and an occasional sharp and prickly bayonet-plant or small, struggling cactus—these, even, were half blown away to the northwest.

Those sands blow about all winter—they are too dry to freeze. If the snow covers them it soon blows off, and with it the hill on which it lay. Along the railroad a heavy wind will frequently drift the sand into the cuts till it stops the trains. I have myself seen six inches of sand on the track in some places. A heavy rain will partially subdue the sand for a very short time—while it is raining, perhaps, not much longer.

I staid till the shadows began to run together—till the blots scattered over the landscapes had gone, and in their stead, dotted over the whole view, were shining points of light floating in the dark shadow which lay everywhere below—spots of gold—the tops of the hills just touched with the last night from the setting sun. I turned west on the trail, as it was becoming quite dark, and reached the camp at ten o'clock, after the moon had risen and was throwing the shadows to the west, more dark, strange and weird than those made by the afternoon sun.

Severe Penalty for Carelessness.

MONTREAL, Can., Feb. 24.—Abbe Hamel, of New York, was robbed of $2,500 on the train yesterday morning while on his way to Montreal. He had the money in a sachel which he had by his side on the seat. On arriving at Plattsburg, as is customary, the passengers left the train for breakfast, Abbe Hamel leaving his sachel behind him. When he came back he found that a woman of rather suspicious appearance had, along with the sachel, disappeared.

Centennial of Washington's Inauguration.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The sub-committee on the Washington Inauguration Centennial Committee decided yesterday to send to the Legislature the draft of a bill making April 30, 1889, a legal holiday in this State. It was resolved to ask the members of Congress from New York to endeavor to defeat the bill now pending in the House providing for the celebration of inauguration day in Washington.

Four Mexican Troopers Killed.

NOGALES, A. T., Feb. 24.—The other night, during a heavy rain-storm, the large house used as headquarters of the Eleventh Regiment of the Mexican troops at Cruz de Piedras, Sonora, fell in. Four soldiers were instantly killed and a large number mortally wounded, while nearly half the regiment suffered injury. In addition many were prostrated by illness in consequence of exposure to the severe weather.

Pronounced Insane.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 24.—Dr. C. K. Bartlett and J. E. Bowers, acting under appointment by the Governor, have pronounced Nels Olson Holong, the Fergus Falls murderer, insane. Holong is under sentence to be hanged on April 13 for the murder of Miss Lilly Field, whom he butchered on May 28 last, and whose body he fed to the hogs on his brother's farm.

A Home-Rule Missionary.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Sir Thomas Grattan Esmonde, M. P., who has been at the Hoffman House since Saturday, after a prolonged trip through the East, where he visited the principal cities in behalf of the Irish home rule cause, has left for the South, where he will continue his work for several weeks.

The Verdict Unanimous

W. D. Suit, Druggist, Bippus, Ind testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousand of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at Frank Sherer & Co's.

REBUILDING MOUNT VERNON.

Every Man Busy and More Wanted—Swelling the Relief Fund.

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Feb. 24.—The work of rebuilding is under full headway. Every man that can handle a hatchet, trowel, axe or shovel is employed, and there is a call for more. The wounded are getting along very well, but those of the crippled at the court-house will die.

There are thirty wounded now at the Supreme Court house. The appellate court, which meets in the Supreme Court house, is to meet Tuesday next, and will adjourn over, as the wounded there can not be moved. The doctors attending the wounded and the relief committee have divided the city into districts to facilitate their work.

The school board met yesterday and decided to repair the West End school building immediately, and the primary department will be in running order in a month or six weeks.

Excursion trains are still running on all roads, and the Jacksonville & Southeastern brought an excursion over the Louisville & Nashville yesterday morning with about 600 people, and an excursion on the Louisville & Nashville from Evansville brought about 500 people. Besides these the regular trains were packed.

Contributions are coming in liberally from all over the country, but the committee is so crowded with work that it is unable to arrange the list in detail.

The work of reroofing the Supreme Court house is now under way and will be completed by Saturday night.

GALESBURG, Ill., Feb. 24.—The saloon men were aroused by the notice of a meeting of the temperance people for the benefit of the Mount Vernon sufferers, and raised a purse of $100 for that fund. This stirred up the temperance people and at last night's meeting they raised $450.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Feb. 24.—This city contributed $1,000 for the relief of the sufferers at Mount Vernon.

ELGIN, Ill., Feb. 24.—Yesterday's contributions to the Mount Vernon funds were $200.

IS TASCOTT CAPTURED?

The Murderer of Millionaire Snell Thought to Have Been Caught in Lebanon, Mo.

LEBANON, Mo., Feb. 23.—A man has been arrested here who is believed to be William B. Tascott, the alleged murderer of Millionaire A. J. Snell, of Chicago. The marks on the man's body, the height, weight and general appearance correspond so accurately with the descriptive circular sent over the country by the Chicago police that there is scarcely a doubt in the minds of the officers here that the fugitive assassin has at last been caught.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Inspector Bonfield has sent Detectives Aldrich and Damen to Lebanon, Mo., to identify the man under arrest. One of them has known Tascott for years, and if the Missouri sheriff has really captured the right man the fact will be known before many hours. The inspector said the information seemed reasonably straight, and there was reason to believe that Tascott had been corraled. If the prisoner was not the young desperado, and the dispatch was reliable, the similarity between the man wanted and the man caught was phenomenal.

The grand jury yesterday found six indictments against William B. Tascott, five of the indictments being for burglary and one for the murder of Amos J. Snell.

WENDELL PHILLIPS.

A Movement in Boston to Erect a Popular Memorial in Honor of the Champion of Liberty.

BOSTON, Feb. 24.—A movement was started yesterday to erect a memorial to the memory of Wendell Phillips. The movement was inaugurated by two meetings in Tremont Temple under the auspices of the Wendell Phillips Hall Association. The first meeting was largely attended by delegates from labor organizations, who formed a society for raising funds. The evening meeting was largely attended and was addressed by General Butler and others. General Butler made the speech of the evening. He eulogized Phillips, and claimed that the war of the rebellion was principally inspired by the voice and pen of Phillips. He advocates the building of the memorial by the voluntary mites of the working-men of America. He was opposed to any subscription of more than five dollars from any one person. The meeting was a great success, and will, it is believed, greatly promote the fund for the memorial building.

MOONSHINERS IN WISCONSIN.

An Illicit Still Discovered and Captured on a Farm Near Two Rivers, Wis.

TWO RIVERS, WIS., Feb. 24.—Deputy Collector M. E. Murphy, of Manitowoc, assisted by P. J. Pierce, also of Manitowoc, made another capture of an illicit still Wednesday evening near the village of Mishicott, in this county. The still was found in full operation, and a number of gallons of hot whisky were secured. It was located on the farm of Sam Dousey, a brother-in-law of Shenter, who was recently arrested for crooked distilling and whose case is now pending in the United States District Court in Milwaukee. This makes the third capture of the kind made in this vicinity in the past few months. The still was most craftily concealed, and it was only after a patient search that it was found. The entire apparatus was taken to Manitowoc.

Missionary Work of the Knights.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—The General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor assigned the different members to various parts of the country to further the interests of the order. Powderly will go to the northern peninsula of Michigan and Ontario; Bailey to Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, and possibly Mississippi; Maguire to Cincinnati; Carlton, first to southern Ohio, thence to Florida, and Aylesworth through Kansas and Missouri.

Saved from the Sea.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Captain Craig McKean, of the schooner Mary S. Tibbitts, and his crew of four men, all of whom were supposed to have been lost at sea several weeks ago, arrived here from London Wednesday on the steamer Egyptian Monarch. Captain McKean said that his vessel was lost and that he and his men narrowly escaped a watery grave.

Trouble in the Sugar Trust.

Their Business Boom.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Mrs. Emory Dunbar, of Footville, Attempts to kill Herself With a Revolver.

The Wound Will Probably Result in Her Death in a Few Days.

Last evening Mrs. Emory Dunbar, of Footville, attempted to take her own life by shooting with a revolver. The particulars are as follows:

Mrs. Dunbar is the wife of Mr. Emory Dunbar, residing at Footville. She is about thirty-six years old and has three children. For some time she has been in poor health, and for two months past has suffered in mind as well as in body, she being subject to spells of melancholy and wandering of the mind in such a degree that her family were compelled to watch her movements.

Yesterday afternoon she visited a neighbor, her husband being absent in Chicago with a lot of stock. Returning home early in the evening with a male relative she immediately went to her bed room and took off her extra clothing. Soon after her relative heard the report of a pistol, and immediately the unfortunate woman rushed out of her room throwing her pistol on the floor and herself on a lounge in the room, without uttering a word. The Drs. Palmer, of this city, were immediately summoned, and on arriving at Footville found that the woman had shot herself with a 32 calibre ball, the ball entering her body just below the stomach, passing through the intestines, taking a downward course and lodging near the spinal column, the ball rupturing the intestines thirteen times. Mrs. Dunbar was suffering from internal hemorrhage, and the surgeons soon attended to the wound, and at four o'clock this morning left her resting very comfortably.

There is scarcely a hope for her recovery, yet she may live for some days.

Her husband was notified and soon reached his home.

—Judge Winslow, of Racine is holding court at Jefferson for Judge Bennett, trying cases under the new law which permits the calling in of another judge to try cases in which an affidavit of prejudice of the court is made, instead of sending them to another county.

—One enthusiastic member of the the Janesville fire police, who does not belong to any particular squad, as recently organized in general orders by Captain Doe, but who makes himself generally useful at fires by helping all, was heard to remark this morning to a member who failed to "catch on" to the alarm, "Well, I 'got there' in time to rescue a horse collar and a hen."

BOX FORTY-THREE.

The Barn of Lewis Kath, 307 Locust Street, Damaged by Fire.

Last evening at 8:18 o'clock an alarm of fire was turned in from box 43, calling the fire department to 307 Locust street, a fire having been discovered in the barn belonging to Mr. Lewis Kath at the above number. The fire department made quick time in arriving at the scene of the fire, and had there been water at hand, very little damage would have resulted on account of the fire. The west side steamer proceeded to the "bulk head" of the Monterey raceway, and a line of two thousand feet of hose was laid to reach the fire, which required as much if not more time than it did for the fire department to reach the fire from their respective engine houses. While the hose were being laid the members of the hook and ladder company did good work with buckets in confining the fire until a stream of water was forced through the long line of hose. The fire was soon "squelched," but it required some time to remove the hay in the upper part, in which place most of the fire appeared.

The barn was the property of Mr. Lewis Kath, and was valued at about three hundred dollars, upon which there is an insurance of $100, with Simeon Strauss in the Germania of Freeport. The loss will probably be in the neighborhood of two hundred dollars, much of which being on the contents—hay and feed. The roof will have to be replaced, which is about the extent of the loss on the building.

The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Kath was in the barn at half past six with a lantern, but when he left the barn everything appeared all right. He was at a neighbor's house when the alarm was given, and arrived home in time to save his two horses and cow. Late in the afternoon some men were at work stowing away some straw in the barn, and it is possible that the fire was the result of careless use of pipes, but this is not probable.

The fire alarm system worked admirably last evening, showing what the fire department is capable of doing when they receive an alarm of fire in season and a supply of water is at hand. Box "forty-three" must certainly have credit for saving much valuable property in this instance. Had the alarm been sent up to town in the old way, time would have been consumed, and with that time, not only the barn but several adjacent structures, the property of poor people, would be in ruins.

PISTOLS IN PLENTY.

Sensation Without Limit at the Local Opera Houses.

Both at Myers opera house and at Lappin's hall last evening there were treats, for the gory-minded.

At the first named place the play was "Beacon Lights"; and pistols, carbines, bowie-knives, soldiers, desperadoes and cowboys made the stage seem like a kaleidoscope. At Lappin's hall Miss Rogers presented the society drama, "All for Gold"; but inasmuch as there was a pistol-shot so realistic that it scared two years growth out of the people in the front row there was really nothing about it which the gallery god could complain.

But although both plays leaned a trifle toward the sensational they were worthy of much praise. "Beacon Lights" as presented by Mr. Learock's company, was immeasurably above the average border drama which it resembles in very few particulars. The acting was strong and yet natural, while the scenic effects were excellent.

Mr. Learock, himself an actor whose name is familiar from New York to San Francisco, took the leading role, that of rough-spoken but warm-hearted "Phil Gordon". Included in his support were such well known people as Herold Forsberg, J. Hay Conner, Tony Williams Miss Emma Hinckley and Miss Gracie Emmett.

The company expects to play a return engagement in the city either in the latter part of this season or the first part of next, and are likely to be greeted by a full house.

At Lappin's hall last evening, Miss Rogers, who took the part of "Edith Dalmero" was supported by Miss Lizzie Snyder, as "Lillian Wilford," Miss Jessie Dunning, as "Nettie"; Mr. W. L. Buchanan, as "Leslie Hampton"; Mr. Dan Costello, Jr., as "Clarence Wilford," and Mr. D. G. Alger as "Sir Edward Wilford."

To-night Jarbeau will appear at the opera house in "Starlight," while at Lappin's hall the bill will be "Right on Hand."

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 33 degrees above zero. Cloudy with east wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 40 degrees above zero. Cloudy with northeast wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 13 and 21 degrees above zero.

RANG THE BELL ON HIM.

A Young Man For Whom Fair Prairie Had Strong Attractions.

Special Correspondence.

BELOIT, Feb. 24—The boys returning from the Washington celebration at Rockford seminary, report an unusually pleasant time. In fact one of them, said to live not a thousand miles from Janesville, had the bell rung on him three times before he could be persuaded to leave.

The guitar club took part in a sociable at the Second Congregational church at Rockford last Tuesday evening. The club is composed of six pieces and is a credit to the institution.

Last Wednesday the Rhetorical hour was given up to celebrating the 100th anniversary of the birth of Lord Byron. The life and writings of the poet were reviewed and critiques upon his career read. The exercises were extremely interesting.

The anniversary of the immortal George was duly celebrated here by exercises last Wednesday morning. The exercises were of great interest, especially the remarks of Prof Blaisdell, who spoke on "The Character of Washington." The programme was finished by the rendition of "America". The Cleo Club furnished the music.

Judge Albion W. Tourjee, the noted author and lecturer, has been secured to deliver his celebrated lecture "Give Us a Rest," at the opera house here on next Saturday evening, March 3. This will prove an action of no small degree, and undoubtedly the Senior class, under whose auspices he comes, will realize considerable from the lecture.

"Miles Standish" is to be given next Monday evening at the opera house, by home talent. H. J. C.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

The All Souls Entertainment Proves a Decided Novelty.

The stage in All Souls Sunday school room last evening represented a parlor. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Helms were shown, cosily ensconced in rocking chairs and making sarcastic remarks about the Milwaukee street pavement. Just as the discussion began to grow interesting, however, the door-bell rang. That indicated the beginning of the "Surprise Party."

Ten or fifteen young people flocked in and proceeded to make themselves perfectly at home, answering Mr. Helms' apologies for not being able to entertain them better by explaining that they were entertainment enough themselves. And their statement seemed literally true. Besides passing around conundrums that brought tears to the eyes of Longfellow's picture, they made up a literary and musical programme not often equalled.

There was a solo by Miss Ella Godden; as well as songs by the All Souls choir, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Church, Miss Ella Godden and Mr. E. R. Inman, and by a male quartette consisting of Messrs. C. N. Vankirk, C. E. Church, E. R. Inman and Frank Needham. An instrumental quartette by Walter Helms, flute; Merle Norton, autoharp; E. R. Inman, harmonica; and Mrs. C. N. Vankirk, guitar, was loudly applauded, as was the cornet solo by Mr. Norton earlier in the evening.

But it was not only in music that the guests shone; they did equally well in readings and recitations. Mrs. T. W. Christmas, Miss Minnie Godden, and Miss Ida Fish each contributed her share and each won hearty praise.

Instrumental accompaniments were furnished during the evening by Mrs. Will T. Sherer, Mr. Merle Norton, Mr. Walter Helms and Miss Veltham.

Before the surprise party ended someone suggested that the company rehearse their new play, "An Editors Trials." The "rehearsal" promptly followed, and developed considerable fun; although the sufferings of Editor Inman to whom the trials, of course, fell, were something terrible to contemplate.

At the close of the rehearsal there was a social and an impromptu dance.

INDUSTRIAL IMPORT.

WINDMILL factories are multiplying in the West. Windmills are made to pump water and do a great deal of valuable work at a much less cost than boilers, engines and coal can do it.

CARNEGIE BROS. have decided not to build the two projected furnaces at the Edgar Thompson steel works, Braddock, for the present at least. The reason assigned is that the productive capacity of the works is fully equal to the present demand.

ABOUT 80,000 traveling salesmen are on the road in this country, whose expense account averages $1,625 a year each, and whose average annual salary is $1,000, thus representing an outlay by and on this go-ahead and wide-awake fraternity of about $210,000,000 every twelve months.

According to Major Powell, of the United States Geological Survey, the total value of the mineral production of the United States in the year 1887 as near as can be ascertained, was more than $465,000,000, the largest amount yet recorded in any country. Pig iron headed the list, its value exceeding that of gold and silver combined.

THERE are forty manufacturers of rubber clothing in the United States; capital, $30,000,000; product for the past year, 15,000,000. Several of the best equipped mills have been obliged to go into liquidation. Two associations have been formed, one to make gossamer goods, the other vulcanized goods. A five per cent. advance in prices has been made for the ensuing year.

A FLORIDA perfumery company has nineteen acres of tuberoses in Fairfield and San Mateo, and expects to plant nearly 200 acres more. The manager of the company says that Florida is far ahead of Southern France, where the flowers are raised extensively by irrigating at a great expense. He asserts that he has known the flowers from one acre of land to sell for $2,000 in one season.

THE ends of the earth are uniting: just think of it; oranges from Australia and California meeting in the London fruit market, but this only momentarily. There is no rivalry, for, when by the California season we are out of the London market, Australia succeeds us. Steam is rapidly reducing this little world to one country, and by and by "men the world o'er shall brithers be an a' that."

ONE concern at Waterville, Me., made 18,000,000 square yards of cotton goods last year, and a Maine newspaper figures that the cloth would make a tent that would cover 370 acres, and hold all the people of Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts comfortably seated, with a ring of more than 168 acres in the center. In that ring the 84,000 horses of Maine could be exhibited all together.

THE diamond mining companies of South Africa, which number about ninety, propose to form a gigantic combination that will control the whole diamond territory. The object, of course, is to increase the price, which has been reduced by the enormous production of that region. It is estimated that there are about $1,000,000,000 worth of diamonds now in use, one-half of which came from the African fields.

Helping the Right Side.

To help the right side is not commendable in a general point of view, but is judicious and prudent when that help is enlisted in behalf of the right side of the body, just over the lower ribs in the region of the liver. The most efficient help is afforded by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an anti-bilious medicine of incomparable efficacy. Inaction of the liver is accompanied by constipation, sick-headache, furred tongue, nausea, occasional vertigo, an unpleasant breath, yellowness of the skin and ball of the eye. The author of these symptoms, liver complaint routed by the Bitters is accompanied by them in its flight. Fever and ague which always involves the liver, dyspepsia, rheumatism, debility and kidney troubles are all maladies to the early relief and final cure of which this stand ard medicine is adopted. Don't use it by fits and starts, but systematically, that its full effects may result in a perfect restoration of health.

A FEW FRESH RHYMES.

Believe in Man.

Believe in man, nor turn away.
Lo! man advances year by year;
Time bears him onward, and his sphere
Of life must broaden day by day.

Believe in man with large belief.
The garnered grain each harvest time
Hath promise, roundness and full prime
For all the empty chaff and sheaf.

Believe in man with proud belief.
Truth keeps the bottom of her well,
And when the thief peeps down, the thief
Peeps back at him, perpetual.

Faint not that this or that man fell;
For one that falls a thousand rise
To lift white progress to the skies;
Truth keeps the bottom of her well.

Fear not for man, nor cease to delve
For cool, sweet truth, with large belief.
Lo! Christ Himself chose only twelve,
Yet one of these turned out a thief.

Her Papa's Politics.

"What are your papa's politics,
Miss Mary?" asked the beau;
The maiden eyed the clock and yawned:
"Why do you wish to know?"

"Because," the little fellow grinned,
"He'll like me, don't you see?
If I find out his party views
And with 'em all agree."

"Well, pa's for home protection,"
Mary laughed, "like all you men—
For he declared he'd bolt the door
To-night at half-past ten."

"Why, then, he's a belter, May,
A mugwump, ha, ha, ha!
He's kicked the party traces off—
I'm solid with your pa."

"O, that must be the party, who,"
May answered, with a cough,
"Called every night—the same as you;
Pa had to kick him off.

"And papa left some traces, too,"
She told the frightened snicker;
"Yes! pa must be a mugwump true.
For he's an awful kicker."

And then the lover bowed "good-night,"
With rather humbled pride,
And thought the side of politics
For him was safe outside.

A Cold Sleigh-Ride.

Nelly and I went out to-day,
Tucked snugly in my little cutter,
She wore a suit of fur-trimmed gray,
With witching ribbon-ends to flutter.

Her eyes shone out behind the veil
Drawn straight across, her dimples hiding.
The best-dressed girl in Beaverdale,
And prettiest, I had sleigh-riding.

I knew Jack Hill would talk such stuff,
Were he but in my place a minute!
And, when one hand drew out her muff,
His own would promptly be within it.

Her smile was sweet, her cheek was red;
We passed through several toll-gates lonely,
But not a tender word was said;
I asked about the soapstone only.

We dared the drifts in lovers' lane,
She clasped my arm, and very tightly;
I set her in her place again,
And wrapped the robe 'round her politely.

The dearest thing, of course! but I
Don't think of that, someway or other;
If I am cold she is not shy;
But then, you see, I'm Nelly's brother.

Listening.

I listen and I listen
For one I long to greet,
And I hear the ceaseless passing
Of footsteps in the street.

I hear them coming, coming,
So straight, so sure, so fast;
And I hush my heart to hearken;
But all the feet go past.

Will it be so forever,
As on my bed I lie,
Counting the pleasures coming—
Will every one go by?

Or will it one day happen
That when I hark no more,
Some late, long joy, unnoticed,
Will linger at my door?

A Winter Wail.

From the morn that chill November
Greets us with a gentle shake,
Till the eve that sighing April
Tearfully her leave doth take,
Day and night, without cessation,
With a swift, remorseless flow,
Anthracite into the furnace
And the heating stove doth go.

With insatiate maws extended
Yawn those demons of despair,
Making man wish most devoutly
He could climb the golden stair;
For no sooner comes the season
Of relief from ice men's bills
Than the coal man with his clamor
Full of grief his bosom fills.

Oh, for fields of vernal verdure
In some semi-tropic clime,
Where thermometers are strangers
And the sun shines all the time;
Where soft breezes, odor laden,
Shed their fragrance on the air,
And such things as stoves and coal fires
Never bring a moment's care!

IT is said that the latest competition threatening British farmers is the importing of baled hay from the United States.

MORE than $10,000,000 worth of oysters were shipped from Maryland to all parts of the world this season. Over 40,000 persons are employed in the industry in the State.

SOUTH Carolina phosphates have advanced 40 cents a ton and acid phosphates $1, owing to the demand created by the good crops of last year. This will give work to 5,000 laborers.

A NEW YORK merchant estimates that 3,000,000 bushels of peanuts were consumed in this country last year. The cost to the consumers was $10,000,000, fully half of which was profit.

THE wholesale dealers in New York say that the influx of California fruit has not had any appreciable effect on either Eastern fruits or the foreign trade. One reason for this is that Americans are becoming more and more a fruit-eating people.

SUGAR refining by electricity is about to be attempted by a Brooklyn company, which claims to be able to convert a ton of raw sugar in two hours into hard white sugar, at a cost of eighty cents, turning out 3,000 barrels per day. Present cost is $7 to $10, and time thirty hours.

THE San Francisco correspondent of the New York Tribune writes that prominent California viticulturists will soon start a bank here, the stockholders of which will be wine-growers. A general banking business will be done, but the chief feature will be to advance loans on wine. A storage cellar will be connected with the bank. Then a winemaker may send his product to the bank and get a loan of ten cents per gallon on it, and thus be saved from selling fresh wine at a sacrifice.

ORIGIN OF SOME WORDS.

COFFEE is named after Mount Caffa, Abyssinia.

"CHESTNUT," as applied to any thing stale or of ancient date, originated with Mr. William Warren, the veteran comedian of Boston. It was taken from an old melo-drama, the words being: "A chestnut (referring to a tree), I should know us well as you, having heard you tell the tale twenty-seven times."

In regard to the origin of the word honeymoon, it is said: There was a custom among the Welsh of drinking metheglin, a fermented liquor made of honey. This may have given rise to the word. Its application, in a figurative sense, to the first month after marriage, is very appropriate to that delightful and almost invariably happy season.

THE word cyclone was proposed by a Mr. Piddington, of England, to designate a wind which blows in a circuit, or a wind describing a spiral by its progression while turning. Cyclone has now become the accepted term for a whirlwind. The word blizzard is of Western origin, and, like many words which have had their birth there, is hard to trace to its source.

CAPTAIN ANDREW ROBINSON built at Gloucester, Mass., in 1713, the first schooner. As the vessel was gliding into the water at the time of launching, somebody shouted: "See how she schoons!" and the owner, catching the word, exclaimed: "A schooner let her be." This is said to be the story of the origin of this distinctively American kind of craft and of the name by which it is known.
